THE WILL WON.

Jury in the Circuit Court Sustains Richard Ellis's Will.

The Richard Ellis will case, which has been on trial in the Circuit Court for some days, was decided some two Tuesday.

Ellis was a somewhat eccentric man who was at one time in business at Mt. Olive.

He had married a second wife. In his will he put off $5 each a couple of children by his first wife, leaving the balance of his property, about $15,000, to the second wife.

Suit was entered to break the will, and the first trial resulted that way.

On a second trial, just closed, the Jury sustained the will.

TOOK A TUMBLE.

A Tramp Rolls Off the Trestle and is Badly Bruised.

William Thompson, white man, a tramp by profession, was Tuesday released from Jail after serving a fifty-one days' sentence.

During his confinement he had accumulated considerable thirst, and as soon as he got out he sought the fountain that destroys all earthly sorrow.

About 9 o'clock he carried his jag to the top of the viaduct that crosses Wall street, and it was so heavy that it threw him to the ground.

He was picked up insensible and carted back to jail, where he is now nursing a head the size of a forty shilling pot and ruminating on the hardships imposed on the down-trodden masses by the "red-handed" money power.

A CLOSE CALL.

A Young Man Comes Very Near Losing An Arm.

Yesterday evening about 6:30 o'clock there was an accident at the bakery of Mr. Henry Lins that came very near resulting in a young man losing an arm and probably his life.

Harry Burke, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. Henry Burke of the Fifth Ward, was engaged in running the machine that rolls the bread.

The rolls on the machine are about an inch and a half apart.

In some manner Harry's hand got caught, and before he could stop the machine that before went through the rolls, tearing the flesh and skin partly off and cutting a large gash in the palm.

The machine was stopped and Harry hurried up to Dr. Clean C. Owens's office, where his injuries were attended to.

It was a narrow escape.

If it required an annual outlay of $100 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it, that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 35 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by J. J. Wood Druggist.

"GET TOGETHER."

There'll Be a Great Game at the Park Tomorrow P. M.

The Bond Hills are coming. And with them Mr. Hiberger. And with the two old Wall-eyed De-fest.

The Bond Hills have met few defeats this year, and when it comes to playing ball with a real team you can bet they will try and show what's in 'em.

There never has been a club come out of Cincinnati to this city yet but what has been "padded" with the very best amateur material that can be found, and that's just what the Manager of the Bond Hills is now doing, he having already secured Hiberger, who is well enough known in this city to draw a crowd out to see him try and get revenge.

Lever will do the board-splitting act for Maysville, and you can just bet your silver 16 to 1 that Sammy will win the game.

There isn't a harder hitting nine in the amateur field today than the Locals, and our citizens should feel extremely proud of them—in fact, so proud that they will fill the grandstand tomorrow to show them how much they really appreciate an organization that, if properly encouraged and talked up, will bring as much business to town as anything that could be gotten up.

Now, let's "get together" tomorrow and give the boys a crowd that will encourage them to play a winning game.

THE BOND HILLS.

The game Thursday will be called at 3 p. m.

Lever and Kellner will be in the points tomorrow.

Now that Curie, Wadsworth and Kellner have their weather eye on them, look out for some tail slugging in the next two games.

Newton is improving every day and bids fair to become a "champion." Watch how effectively he swings his second growth tomorrow.

Lever has an offer of $100 a month and transportation from Lynchburg, Va. Come, now, ye local fans, and by an appreciative attendance do your best to aid the boys in persuading him to remain with us.

One of the secrets of the Cincinnati team's good luck this year is the fact that when the boys win away from home or at home they know the people of Cincinnati will appreciate it. Monday the Reds were given a rousing reception. Brass bands and red fire were all the go.

Moscow has a sure enough team. They played two games Monday with the Cochran of Cincinnati and won both.

Next thing you know they'll think they can defeat the Maysville team, and all they'll have to do is to come up and the Locals will take such a think out of their plates.

The Alerts left here Saturday, went to Chillicothe Monday, got beat by a score of 4 to 3, went back to Cincinnati, told the papers down there about how they won a great game of eleven innings length from the Maysville Club, but failed to tell them that when the Empire called "Play Ball!" Saturday they didn't know how.

Look out for Hiberger Thursday. From all reports he is coming with blood in one eye and an assortment of curves and shoots in the other to smear it on the Locals in double-dyed, warranted-not-to-fade style. Several ardent admirers will accompany the Bond Hills to back their favorites in the first game and cheer them on to victory. Come, boys, get together, and let's make it a Waterloo.

HOW TO TREAT WEEDS.

There is a Right and Wrong Way, as in Everything.

Philadelphia Record.

Weeds seem to curse every farm, and they put in an appearance during the whole of the growing season, being propagated by seeds and from the roots.

As to the source whence they come, it may be difficult to explain, as light seeds are carried by winds, but in a majority of cases weeds are allowed to produce seeds on the farms after the cultivation of the regular crops has ceased. Some farmers are willing to give their crops thorough cultivation as long as the growth of the crops demand such work, but they will not give cultivating simply to benefit the land for the next year. It is during this interval—between the end of cultivation and the appearance of frost—that the weeds have their golden opportunity.

They flourish and seed the land for the next season's production of weeds. It is

When the weeds are young the plants of the crop are also young, and there is a competition for supremacy. Usually the weeds excel in numbers and crowd the plants until the farmer comes to the assistance of the crop. On land that is rich, or where manure or fertilizers have been applied, the weeds will always hold the mastery, and a difference of only two or three days in destroying them may seriously interfere with the crop. There can, therefore, be no postponement of cultivation for destroying weeds, and especially where the rainfall has not been up to the average, as weeds can take up an enormous amount of moisture from the soil in twenty-four hours.

An implement known as the weeder is now used for young weeds. It can be drawn by one horse, and destroys them without injuring the plants. This is done as soon as the weeds begin to appear above the ground, and the harrow also does good service at times. If the killing of the weeds is done while they are young there will be a saving of labor later in the season, and the cultivator need not be used until the top soil requires loosening, as surface cultivation is better than tilling the roots of some crops. Every time the soil is stirred and a shower comes more seeds will germinate, and in a short time there will be but few weeds left. So much for the early weeds. The next duty is to keep on with the work of killing weeds whenever they put in an appearance, and not give up the ground to them because the crop is made. If weeds are allowed to grow to the height of several inches they will then have deprived the land of fertility, but if destroyed when young they can do but little damage.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. not impossible to destroy weeds entirely, and especially if the farmers of a neighborhood will work together for that purpose, as even the Canada thistle has been exterminated on well-kept farms by cultivating a crop that required the hoe as well as the cultivator.

The early weeds, no matter how small they may be, feed upon the plant food intended for the crop, and also appropriate moisture. They grow rapidly because they are usually well adapted to the climate, and are also indigenous to the soil.
